1 Don't roll down your windows for  days after installation.

2 Don't clean your new window film for  days after installation.

Why All the Fuss?

During installation, a trace of soapy solution gets trapped behind the window film. It takes a period of time to completely dry before thoroughly bonding to the glass. Dry time varies with weather conditions and the type of window. This is why your dealer has suggested you not to roll down or clean your windows for a period of time.

What to Expect

Shortly after installation completion, a small amount of moisture may appear and it's also possible small bubbles may collect. Do not worry this is normal – it will always dry and disappear. However, if it becomes excessive or persists, please do not attempt to squeegee them out yourself. Return to your dealer for service.

Warning

All Express Window Films come standard with a scratch resistant coating, although you should use a clean, non-abrasive cloth for cleaning to extend the life of your window film, please follow the care tips on the reverse side of this card.

Cleaning Solutions

A mild soapy water solution works best. A few drops of liquid dish soap and tap water mixed in a spray bottle works very well, although most mild glass cleaning solutions are fine.

Cleaning Cloths

To minimize the risk of scratch damage to the film's surface, always use non-abrasive materials and cloths that are free from contaminants.
